INFORMATION ABOUT MINOR RESEARCH PROJECT :

Research Title :

Preparation of an instructional program on 'Free and Compulsory Primary Education Act' and study of effectiveness in terms of awareness and attitude.

Methodology :

- i. A comprehensive study of the Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Act, 2009.
- ii. A Quantitative Study to obtain data regarding the situation at the grass root level: This was by way of visits to the schools to get a first-hand view of the happenings. A structured questionnaire was prepared based on the criteria of the Act and the status of each provision was crosschecked accordingly.
- iii. A Qualitative Study (Focus Group Discussions) to validate findings from the quantitative study and get feedback in greater detail about the situation. Four Focus Group discussions were held (with Students, Parents and Head Masters and Teachers) with a total of (300+100+10+50=460) 460 respondents.
- iv. Survey method and Experimental Method.

Objectives :

- 1) To study awareness and attitude of primary Head Masters, teachers, students and parents towards 'free and compulsory primary education act'.
- 2) To prepare instructional program on 'free and compulsory primary act' for primary Head Masters, teachers, students and parents to enhance awareness and develop positive attitude.
- 3) To study effectiveness of the instructional programme.

Scope and Limitations :

Scope :

1. The instructional programme could be used for other students also.
2. It could be implemented for primary section.
3. It could be implemented for parents whose children are studying in primary section.

Limitations :

1. The instructional programme will focus only on improving 'Free and Compulsory Primary Education Act and study of effectiveness'.
2. It does not include any activities to improve other skills.

3. The instructional programme will be for Standard VII students of the Schools.
4. The limitations of this program is used only for those schools in Pune district which include in this research.

Sample :

1. The researcher decided to follow the incidental sampling method for data collection
2. The students of 7th std. of district Pune were selected as the sample for research.
3. 300 students out of 500 were selected as the sample for research.
4. 100 out of 500 the Parents of selected schools were selected as the sample for research.
5. 50 teachers of selected schools were selected as the sample for research.
6. The Head Masters of selected 10 schools were selected as the sample for research.

Research Tools :

1. Questionnaire
2. Instructional Programme (PPT and orientation lecture)
3. Pre-test & Post-test.

Findings :

Discussion with children and parents

- i. It was found from the questionnaire that despite Right to free and Compulsory Education being a Fundamental Right, parents revealed that they spend on an average amount (approx. Rs. 300/-) per month per child for their schooling requirements. Most of them struggle to bear this expenditure.
- ii. Schools lack basic infrastructure, so community ends up providing chairs, tables and other items to school in the form of donation.
- iii. Cleanliness is a major issue; premises and classrooms are very dirty and children have to clean the school themselves. Toilets are not in usable condition, non-availability of water, broken taps or missing doors are common problems in the schools.
- iv. Food is unhygienic, containing worms in some cases.

- v. Teachers hardly spend time on classroom activities. Most of the time they end up preparing the reports, filling up the forms and attending instructional programmes at Cluster and Block level
- vi. Teachers don't take extra classes for children struggling to cope. Unfortunately, they punish children corporally and often subject them to fear and anxiety.
- vii. No physical education takes place in majority of the schools.
- viii. Monitoring does not take place; there exists a tacit understanding between teachers and school monitors, resulting in irregularities not getting highlighted.

Discussion with Head Masters and Teachers :

- i. No senior person from Central or State authority has ever come to monitor the implementation of the RTE ACT in the schools after the implementation of the Act.
- ii. The requisitions made by the School development committee to the local self-government receive very little or no attention.
- iii. The local authority (Panchayat / corporation) receives no grant specifically for carrying out the provisions of the RTE Act. They are therefore left with virtually no money for education.
- iv. The land on which schools are built lack documentation, causing disputes among people who claim that land was their property.
- v. School building is full of seepages, and boundary wall is broken or penetrable in majority of the schools.
- vi. No teacher has ever undergone any intensive training programme specifically under the RTE Act that focuses in particular on improving the quality of education.
- vii. Drinking water is not subject to filtration in most schools, hence not safe to drink.
- viii. No library exists in a real sense in most schools. In schools having library books, children are not allowed to borrow books; hence the library serves little or no purpose.
- ix. Uniforms are given, but just one pair and that too is of extremely poor quality. Students are supposed to purchase shoes, socks, belts, ties etc. separately.
- x. Most schools don't have playgrounds.
