Objective:-

In this semester the students will learn how to prepare painting using portraits, beginning with how to think of a composition taking references from the real life models to express their own feelings about those models. They will also how to blend different forms that would express the feelings, emotions of their own. They will be trained in drawing rapid and timed sketches so as to catch that fleeting light and shade and expression of human being.

Aim: -

The students will be able to use various formal elements, colours and textures to express themselves with the idea that they have conceived. They would also learn how to conceptualize.
